Autumn's Flavours Arrive at 360 Bar and Dining

Having sat at the helm of iconic Sydney restaurant 360 Bar and Dining for over a year, Head Chef, Elton Inglis celebrates his new carefully curated menu, showcasing the best of autumn's produce.

The modern Australian menu continues to incorporate a European influence, which Elton is well known for, aimed at providing an exceptional dining experience.

Seasonal highlights of the menu include: smoked ham hock and foie gras ballotine, ginger bread, picked shimejio and blackberry; Spanish mackerel, zucchini, peperonata, black olive and tempura zucchini flowers; and carrot cake financier, walnuts, golden raisins and cream cheese ice cream.

360 Bar and Dining Head Chef, Elton Inglis ensures his menus deliver the best tasting dishes, by letting the seasons produce be the hero.

“With each season comes an abundance of new produce to create colourful autumn dishes. For the best impact of flavour, it is imperative to let the season's produce be the hero. The protein is chosen based on the key flavours brought out from the produce and also the texture required. Each dish has its own individual look and feel, where diners will experience guaranteed colour on each plate.”

Having worked alongside high-profile chefs including Jamie Oliver and Gordon Ramsay, Elton's food philosophy of providing unique pairing of flavours and produce can always be expected throughout his menus.
